Bio

Jaiia Cerff is an Australian-born producer, musician, and activist known for his eclectic blend of downtempo, hip-hop, and electronic music. Raised in a nomadic environment, his early years were spent traveling with his mother, living among diverse communities—from horse farms in Turkey to the desert plains of Mexico—experiences that deeply influenced his artistic perspective.

Professionally, Jaiia is recognized for his collaborations with Indigenous rapper and activist Xiuhtezcatl. Together, they released the album XI:XI in 2021, which features tracks like "Panadería" and "Castle in the Sky," showcasing Jaiia's signature fusion of organic sounds, analog synths, and live rhythms.
